October 3. 1751. NUMB. 1190.

The PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtick.

From the GENTLEMAN'S MAGAZINE, of June 1751.

Mr. URBAN,

I HAVE here ſent you a Copy of the Regiſter of the Form and Ceremony obſerved at Dunmow in Eſſex, on a Claim made Fifty Years ago, to a Flitch of Bacon by William Parſley of Much Eaſton, and Jane his Wife, founded upon an antient Inſtitution of Lord Fitzwalter, in the Reign of Henry III. who ordered, that whatever married Man did not repent of his Marriage, or quarrel with his Wife in a Year and a Day after it, ſhould go to his Priory, and demand the Bacon, on his kneeling to the Truth kneeling on two Stones in the Church Yard. This Cuſtom is ſtill kept up, and by inſerting the Manner of it in your Magazine, you will perhaps excite freſh Claimants, as many of our young married Readers, as well as the antient Woolcomber of Weathersfield, may be as juſtly entitled to it.

Yours, &c. F. D.

Dunmow, Nuper Priorat'

AT a Court Baron of the Right Worſhipful Sir Thomas May, Knt. there holden upon Friday, the 7th Day of June, in the 13th Year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lord William III. by the Grace of God, &c. and in the Year of our Lord 1701, before Thomas Wheeler, Gent. Steward of the ſaid Manor. It is thus enrolled.

Homage.

{ Elizabeth Beaumont, Spinſter, Henrietta Beaumont, Spinſter, Annabella Beaumont, Spinſter, Jane Beaumont, Spinſter, Mary Wheeler, Spinſter. } Jurat'

Be it remember'd, that at this Court, in full and open Court, it is found, and preſented by the Homage aforeſaid, that William Parſley of Much Eaſton, in the County of Eſſex, Butcher, and Jane his Wife, have been married for the Space of Three Years and a Day, and upward; and it is likewiſe found, preſented, and adjudged by the Homage aforeſaid, that the ſaid William Parſley, and Jane his Wife, by Means of their quiet, peaceable, tender, and loving Cohabitation, for the Space of Time aforeſaid (as appears by the ſaid Homage) are fit and qualify'd Perſons to be admitted by the Court to receive the antient and accuſtom'd Oath, whereby to purchaſe themſelves to have the Bacon of Dunmow delivered unto them, according to the Cuſtom of the Manor.

Whereupon, at this Court, in full and open Court, came the ſaid William Parſley, and Jane his Wife, in their proper Perſons, and humbly prayed, they might be admitted to take the Oath aforeſaid; whereupon the ſaid Steward, with the Jury, Suitors, and other Officers of the Court, proceeded, with the uſual Solemnity, to the ancient and accuſtomed Place for the Adminiſtration of the Oath, and receiving the Gammon aforeſaid (that is to ſay) the two great Stones lying near the Church Door, within the Manor, where the ſaid William Parſley, and Jane his Wife, kneeling down on the ſaid two Stones, and the ſaid Steward did adminiſter unto them the abovementioned Oath in theſe Words, or to the Effect following, viz.

You do ſwear by Cuſtom of Confeſſion,
That you ne'er made nuptial Tranſgreſſion;
Since you were married Man and Wife,
By Houſhold Brawls, or contentious Strife,
Or otherwiſe, in Bed or at Board,
Offended each other in Deed or in Word;
Or in a Twelvemonth's Time and a Day,
Repented not in Thought any Way;
Or ſince the Church Clerk ſaid Amen,
Wiſhed yourſelves unmarried again,
But continue true, and in Deſire
As when you joined Hands in holy Quire.

And immediately thereupon, the ſaid William Parſley, and Jane his Wife, claiming the ſaid Gammon of Bacon, the Court pronounced the Sentence for the ſame, in theſe Words, or to the Effect following.

Since to theſe Conditions, without any Fear,
Of your own Accord you do freely ſwear,
A Whole Gammon of Bacon you do receive,
And bear it away with Love and good Leave,
For this is the Cuſtom of Dunmow well known;
Tho' the Pleaſure be ours, the Bacon's your own.

And accordingly a Gammon of Bacon was deliver'd unto the ſaid William Parſley, and Jane his Wife, with the uſual Solemnity.

Examined per Thomas Wheeler, Steward.

The ſame Day a Gammon was delivered to Mr. Reynolds, Steward to Sir Charles Barrington, of Hatfield Broad Oak.

Since our laſt arriv'd here the Captains Williams, Stirling and Reeves, from London, by whom we have the following Advices.

ROME, July 3.

ALL the Objections which have been made to the Plan propoſed by two French Engineers, in Regard to the Operations requiſite at the Port of Anzio, having been fully anſwered and remov'd, thoſe intended Improvements are to be carried into Execution forthwith.

Genoa, July 6. Mr. John James Grimaldi, who has lately been elected Governor and Commiſſary General of Corſica, will ſet out from hence ſhortly for Baſtia, to which Place he will be eſcorted by two Companies of Grenadiers, whom the Government have ordered to attend him as his Guards.

Madrid, July 20. His Catholick Majeſty has determined to confirm the Guipuſcoan Company in the Enjoyment of all thoſe Privileges and Advantages which they were entitled to ſeveral Years ago, when he thought proper to eſtabliſh them at firſt.

In Purſuance of ſuch new Grant, they have lately fitted out three fine Ships in the Port di Paſſagio, which are to ſet ſail in a very ſhort Time for the Caraccas.

Vienna, July 28. The Court have not actually abandon'd the important Affair in Regard to the Election of a King of the Romans; they have only poſtpon'd it till their Imperial Majeſty's Return from their Hungarian Dominions.

Two Couriers have lately arriv'd at Preſbourg from Peterſbourg, within ſome few Days one of another.

We are credibly aſſur'd, that the Contents of thoſe Diſpatches do General Prætlack, principally turn on the Eſtabliſhment of a perfect Harmony, and good Underſtanding between the two Courts of Ruſſia and Berlin.

The Empreſs Queen has, for ſome conſiderable Time laſt paſt, been taking ſuch Steps as might contribute moſt effectually towards that ſalutary End.

Cologne, Auguſt 6. It is currently reported here, that there is a Scheme or Plan upon the Tapis, for the Benefit and Advantage of the Aſiatick Company lately eſtabliſhed at Embden; by Virtue whereof a Channel or Bed is to be ſunk, for the Conjunction of the River Elms with that of Lippa, in order to bring up ſuch Veſſels into the Rhine, as ſhall be freighted with any Kind of Merchandize in the Ports belonging to this City.

Hague, July 31. Several of our private Letters from Paris ſtill give Aſſurance of the pacifick Diſpoſition of the Court of France, and poſitively contradict every Thing that is publiſh'd to the contrary, particularly its having meditated ſome grand Deſign, which, it has been pretended, would ſhew itſelf ſooner than People imagined. We are further aſſured by theſe Letters, that the Miniſtry has principally two Points in View, the firſt is to put the Finances of the King into ſuch a Condition as to enable his Majeſty to act with all neceſſary Vigour in caſe of any unforeſeen Event, and the other is to confirm the Union between the King and his Allies, and to conclude ſome new Alliances, but ſolely to maintain the general Tranquility.

Letters from Switzerland inform us, that the Court of France has juſt given an evident Proof of its Power, or rather Influence, over Part of the Swiſs Cantons, which, being afraid of its Neighbourhood, ſubmit to every Thing that this Crown requires of them. The Inſtance is as follows: A Soldier, in the Service of France, had receiv'd, at one of the Gates of the City of Baſil, ſome Blows with a Stick, in Conſequence of a Sentence pronounced by one of the Judges of that City, for ſome Miſdemeanor committed by him, and no Body thought more of it; but as he was cloathed in his Uniform, and of Courſe in the King's Livery, the Court of France has taken the Proceeding as a Breach of the Reſpect due to his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty, and has demanded an ample Satisfaction for the ſame. The City of Baſil has therefore been obliged to ſend Deputies to the Marquis d'Argenſon, Ambaſſador from France, in Switzerland, who reſides at Soleure, to declare to him, in the Name of the Canton of Baſil, how much that State was penetrated with the reſpectful Sentiments they ought to have for his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty, and the Regret they had for having treated in ſuch a Manner a Soldier of his Troops, cloathed in his Uniform; that they diſavowed the Sentence which the Judges had pronounced; that they would reprimand and puniſh them for it, and would take Care that nothing of the like Nature ſhould happen for the Future.

Liſbon, July 9. They have begun to repair the Fortifications of ſome of the Sea Ports in this Kingdom, which Work will be carried on with all poſſible Diſpatch till they are all put in a proper State of Defence, agreeable to his Majeſty's Orders iſſued ſome time ſince for that Purpoſe. The Fleet from Fernambucca, that was expected ſome time ago, is at length arrived in this Port very richly laden, as well on the King's Account, as on that of the Merchants of this City.

Naples, July 20. It is thought ſome important Negociation is on the Tapis between this Court and that of Vienna; and the rather as Prince Eſterhaſi, Ambaſſador from their Imperial Majeſties, has of late been invited to ſeveral Conferences that have been held by the Miniſters of this Court. The two Gallies that made themſelves Maſters of the Tuneſian Galliot, under the Cannon of the Fort St. Giglio, returned into this Port on Wedneſday laſt.

From the Paris A-la-main, Auguſt 9.

We hear from Baſtia in Corſica, that the Heads of the Malecontents propoſed to hold an Aſſembly on the 25th ult. at St. Fiorenzo, in order to confer with the Generals of his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty; and that M. de Curzay had actually ſent circular Letters to all the Pieves, who, by their Deputies and Agents, were to have a general Meeting before the Expiration of the Month of July.

There can be no Poſſibility of forming any adequate Judgment of the Situation of Affairs till after that Seſſions ſhall be over; and as the Reſult thereof is a Concern of the laſt Importance, the Government will be impatient till the Time comes.

Algiers, July 6. As ſuch a Prize is a very uncommon Sight here, the whole City flocked down to ſee one of our Chebecks come in with a Malteſe Ship in Tow. The Dey has preſented the Captain of the Chebeck with a thouſand Piaſtres and a Slave, and has diſtributed Rewards among the common Seamen according to their Alacrity in boarding the Enemy, particularly he who firſt boarded her had 200 Chequins and a Slave; and in order to animate our Corſairs to ſuch glorious Captures, the Divan have decreed to give the like Recompence to all who for the future ſhall overcome and bring in any armed Veſſel.

A ſmall Spaniſh Saick, with ſome Money on board, has been brought in here; and one of our Cruizers has carried into Tripoli a Venetian Felucca, which he immediately ſold for 1200 Sequins.

If the Neapolitan Commander who broke the Neutrality of Ports ſhould fall into the Hands of any of the Powers of Barbary, he is likely to meet with rough Uſage.

Madrid, July 23. The Neceſſity of ſtocking our Poſſeſſions in the Weſt Indies with a great Addition of European Coloniſts, eſpecially Handicrattſmen and Labourers, having been laid before his Majeſty, and that beſides the Advantage to the Publick, Order and Subjection would be the better ſecured, the nearer the Number of Europeans came to that of the Natives, and that theſe Meaſures ſhould preferably take place in thoſe Towns and Diſtricts who had manifeſted any Diſpoſitions to ſhake off the Yoke, and ſet up for themſelves, as their Word is; theſe Repreſentations having been approved by the Council, it has been reſolved to make the moſt encouraging Offers of Privileges, Immunities and pecuniary Aſſiſtance, to any Italian Families who will enter themſelves to ſettle in the King's American Dominions, and there follow the ſame Trades and Occupations by which they maintained themſelves at home.

The Cargoes of the four Ships lately arrived from Vera Cruz at Cadiz, are as follows: On the King's Account 1019 Serons of Cocoa Zoconuſco, 1003 Cheſts of Chocolate, 1001 Cheſts of Powder of Goaxaca, 1025 Arobes of Pipe Tobacco, 1986 Cheſts of Tobacco Stalks, 2792 Plates of Copper, and 4803 effective Piaſtres: On the Merchants Account, 20,221,791 effective Piaſtres, 4543 Marcs of wrought Plate, Spaniſh Piſtoles to the Value of 45,522 Piaſtres, 1010 Marcs of Gold, 1,073,950 Pounds of fine Cochineal, 25,350 Pounds of wild Cochineal, 59,725 Pounds of Indigo, 104,719 of Vanillas, 34,925 of Jalap Roots, 3810 Quintals of Campeachy Wood, 2570 Pounds of Drugs, and other Medicaments, 3896 raw Hides, 1246 tanned Hides, 1394 Cheſts of Sugar, 1007 Cheſts of China, 1010 Bales of Saſſaparilla, 1006 Serons of Cocoa, 1008 Cheſts of Chocolate, 25,225 Pounds of Carmine, 1669 Serons of Snuff, 2023 Serons of Leaf Tobacco, 1002 Pearl Necklaces, and 1048 Planks of Caoba Wood; this laſt Wood is of a beautiful red, and ſurpaſſes any in the whole World for Furniture.

Berlin, Auguſt 10. On the 7th the Princeſs of Pruſſia was happily delivered of a Princeſs, and it is impoſſible to expreſs the Noiſe, Hurry, and Confuſion of the foreign Miniſters, and other Perſons of Rank, driving to and from the ſeveral Courts to pay their Congratulations.

Stockholm, Aug. 2. The Office of Inſurance is paying, with great Punctuality, the Sums for which the burnt Houſes were inſured; the Number of ſuch Houſes is 800, and the Sums inſured on them amount to 800,000 Crowns.

Paris Aug. 9. Laſt Wedneſday the firſt Preſident and the Attorney General of the Parliament went to Compiegne to receive his Majeſty's Orders concerning the Oeconomy of the Hoſpitals of this City; on which Occaſion the firſt Preſident made ſeveral Repreſentations to his Majeſty, equally nervous and reſpectful, but they drew no other Anſwer from the Throne, than that he would be obeyed, and that notwithſtanding any prior regiſtring by the Parliament of its own Head, it was his expreſs Will, that his Declaration ſhould be regiſtred and executed in all its Contents. The next Day the Preſident reported to this auguſt Aſſembly his Majeſty's peremptory Anſwer, which occaſioned long Debates, but without coming to any Determination: This Altercation engroſſes the Attention of the Publick, but the Parliamentarians take Care not to give any incautious Vent to their Opinions.

Mr. Perrier's Squadron has been ſeen off Oporto, ſteering South-Weſt with a fair Wind.

Legborn, Aug. 8. Several Ships have been freighted here in order to go to the Levant and load with Corn; this is a happy Precaution to the Merchants and the Publick, for by the Scantineſs of the Harveſt in Lombardy and Naples, that Commodity, ſo abſolutely neceſſary, is riſing to a Price which ſeems to threaten a very calamitous Dearth.

The Expreſs which was ſent to Vienna on the Giglio Inſult is returned; but the Anſwer which he has brought is not yet known; however that Indiſcretion has already created ſome ill Blood betwixt us and the Neapolitans, who one and all glory in it as a gallant Action not to be frighten'd by a Fort which pretends to ſhelter Infidels.

Genoa, July 31. A Veſſel from Naples brings the agreeable News, that one of our Cruiſers had taken Sabre in hand a large Tuneſine Chebeck, which it had carried into Otranta; two Portuguſe Men of War had much eaſier Work with an Algerine; and a Salleteen is fallen into the Spaniards Hands.

M. Chauvelin and Commiſſary Grimaldi agree perfectly in the Meaſures for putting an equitable and laſting End to the Diſturbances in Corſica; they, eſpecially the former, have repreſented to the Chiefs, that in the new Articles the Republic has ſo far receded from its Rights, and made them ſuch Conceſſions, that an Independency itſelf could not bring more Advantages to the whole Iſland than ſuch an eaſy Submiſſion to the Republic, and exhorted them to cloſe with an Offer, which made ſo much for their Honour, Commerce, Liberty and Circumſtances of Proſperity.

LONDON.

July 19. The Lord Mayor and Aldermen of London, waited on the King, to congratulate him on the Birth of a Princeſs, when the Recorder made the following Speech.

Moſt gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's loyal Subjects, the Lord Mayor and Court of Aldermen of the City of London, humbly beg Leave to congratulate your Majeſty on the ſafe Delivery of Her Royal Highneſs the Princeſs of Wales, and the Birth of a Princeſs.

As we are truly ſenſible of the Bleſſings we enjoy under Your Majeſty's Government, and are convinced, that the Security of our Rights and Liberties, in Time to come, depends on the Proteſtant Succeſſion eſtabliſhed in Your illuſtrious Houſe; it is, at this Time, a peculiar Satisfaction to us, that we have once more, the Honour of Congratulating Your Majeſty on the Increaſe of Your Royal Family.

And, upon this Occaſion, permit us, Sir, to render our moſt dutiful Thanks to Your Majeſty, for a late ſignal Inſtance of Your Majeſty's paternal Care of Your People, in the Proviſion made by Parliament for the future Tranquility of this Kingdom: A Proviſion moving primarily from Your Majeſty's Goodneſs, and brought to Perfection by Your Majeſty's Wiſdom. Yet, wiſe and ſalutary as it is, we cannot forbear to expreſs our Wiſhes, that a long Continuance of Your Majeſty's Life may make it unneceſſary.

Fixed in theſe Sentiments of Duty and Gratitude, our Prayers ſhall always be, that Your Majeſty may long reign over us; and that the Throne may be filled by Your Majeſty's Deſcendants, even to remoteſt Ages.

His Majeſty's moſt gracious Anſwer.

I Thank you for this freſh Inſtance of your Zeal and Affection for me and my Family.

The City of London may always depend upon the Continuance of my Favour and Protection.

July 20. We hear that the Lords Commiſſioners of the Admiralty, have ordered a particular Account of the Condition of His Majeſty's Navy to be laid before them.

July 25. At a Board of Admiralty, where all the Lords were preſent, it was reſolved to put in Commiſſion two Men of War of 70, two of 60, and two of 50 Guns.---Orders were given for fitting out ſix Tranſports for Nova-Scotia, with warlike Stores, and all Sorts of Implements for Huſbandry.

July 29. Orders are iſſued from the Lord Chamberlain's Office for the Change of the Mourning for the late Prince of Wales, on Sunday, Auguſt 4. next; the Men to continue in black, and to wear colour'd Swords and Buckles; the Ladies to wear black Silk, or Velvet, colour'd Ribbons, Fans and Tippets.

July 31. Sir John Strange, and General Bland, are appointed by His Majeſty, to enquire into the Demands of the Inhabitants of Minorca upon General Anſtruther, their late Governor, againſt whom there was a very heavy Charge preferred the laſt Seſſion of Parliament.

On the 20th of June the Bedford Buſs, belonging to the Free Britiſh Fiſhery, caught at one Hawl 109 Quarter Barrels of Herrings, which was allowed by the Dutch to be the greateſt Hawl ever known.

... the British Squadron in the Mediterranean, has at length settled all the Differences between his Court and the Dey of Algiers, by waving the Restitution of the Money and Effects taken out of the Prince Frederick Packet-Boat, on Condition, that his Majesty's Packet-Boats shall never be obliged to carry Algerine Passports, but on producing their Commissions, shall be at full Liberty to pursue their Voyage; and that the British Merchants shall enjoy the Privilege of Trading in all the Ports and Places belonging to the Kingdom of Algiers, with fair and legal Passports; with which they are allowed a proper Time to furnish themselves.

Mr. William Curtis, Commander of the Good-Will Merchant Ship, now in the River, who left Cape Francois June 4. where he had been eight Months, in that Time saw 1500 English Sailors in the French Service, on board their Merchant Ships; and says, that he took an Account of 480 Sail that went out of that Port for France, all richly laden.

The Marquis de l'Ensenada, who has the Care of the Royal Navy of Spain, has found Means to engage into the Spanish Service an Englishman, of whose Skill in Ship-building, several fine Ships, built at Carthagena, are valuable Proofs.

Extract of a Letter from Barbados, May 22.

"Three large Ships full of Land Forces, lately arrived at Martineco, and they talk there as if they should soon have a War. Our Commodore, Mr. Holborne, as I hear, will send away an Express to England, in a few Days, with some important Dispatches."

August 3. Capt. M. Kenzie, of the Prince George, from Carolina, arriv'd at Cowes, took up the Master and Crew of the Diamond, Capt. Caldwell, of Londonderry, from Philadelphia, for Antigua, who was the 27th of June overset, 120 Leagues East of the Capes of Virginia.

Yesterday the pickled Herrings catch'd by the British Busses, were sold at Garraway's. The whole Barrels sold on an Average at 21. 4 s. each; the Half Barrels at 25 s. and the Quarter Barrels at 18 s. 6 d. so that these delicious Herrings may now be afforded cheap, and thereby increase the Consumption; on the Greatness of which (tho' not at home) this Fishery depends. The splenetic Paragraph, in the Utrecht Gazette, August 5. contains Falsities, particularly in saying, that the British Herrings were declared (in Germany) not to be so well cured as the Dutch; whereas Letters can be produced here, from Merchants of the greatest Reputation in Germany, which prove that the British Herrings, were in as great Repute, as those of the Dutch, and sold at as high a Price.

August 8. We hear thar Admiral Knowles will be appointed Governor of Jamaica, in the Room of his Excellency Governor Trelawney, who, it is said, is coming home.

August 9. They write from Genoa, that two Tunesian Vessels, or Corsairs, are taken by the Genoese, and carried into Genoa.

They write from Hamburgh, that Mr. Durand, one of the French Ministers in Germany, is lately arrived there, which occasions many Speculations, as it seems to confirm a Report spread some Time ago, that the Differences which had so long subsisted between the Court of Versailles and a certain Court in the North are adjusted, or on the Point of being adjusted to their mutual Satisfaction.

Letters from Presburgh say, that on the 3d Instant. N. S. her Imperial Majesty went on board a Vessel for Pest, in order to take a View of the Camp in its Neighbourhood. and afterwards visit some other remarkable Places in the Kingdom of Hungary.

Our Correspondent from Paris acquaints us, that the Differences between the King and his Clergy are nearly accommodated, and that upon a strict Survey, by the King's Orders, of the Religious Houses throughout the Kingdom, there appeared to be four hundred and forty-seven thousand Religious in France.

August 9. According to some Accounts from Madrid, the Spanish Navy, including Ships on the Stocks, consists of about 50 Sail of Men of War, viz. 6 of 90 Guns; 11 of 80, 8 of 70, 10 of 60, and 15 Ships from 50 to 20 Guns; besides Xebeques, Gallies, and other light Vessels.

August 10. By a Letter from the Cape of Good Hope, dated the 10th of April last, to a Gentleman in this Town, there is Advice, that at that Time there were at the Cape, two French outward-bound India Ships, full of Officers, and Soldiers, and that eleven others, provided in like manner, had gone before. which they pretended was only to repair the Loss they had sustained; but it alarmed our People with strange Apprehensions.

By Letters brought by Yesterday's Post we learn, that the Ships which lately went out under the Command of Commodore Rodney, in search of the Island, of which Information upon Oath was given to the Lords of the Admiralty, are returned to Spithead, without having been able to make the least Discovery of any such Island.

Bristol, August 3. There is Advice from Antigua, that so many French Ships trading on the Coast of Guiney, have greatly injur'd that Trade, and have advanced the Purchase of Slaves to the highest Rate that was ever known on the African Shore: Insomuch, that it is thought several Merchants of Great-Britain decline sending out any more Ships to that Coast.--And from Liverpool we have an Account, that the Merchants of that Port have been great Sufferers by the Encroachments of the French in that Trade, who will have Negroes at any Rate.---So that this once profitable Branch of Commerce is now in a fair Way of being inverted; and whereas we and the Dutch did for a Course of many Years supply the French Islands with Slaves, they now are extraordinary active to save us that Trouble, and will do it themselves.

ANNAPOLIS, September 18.

On Thursday last, came on the Trial of Thomas Bevan, for attempting to rob the House of Mr Cole, on the 2d of July last; at first he pleaded, Not Guilty, but when his Comrade came to be sworn, he objected to him, as being unqualified by the Laws of England to give Evidence; but when he was told, that there was an Act of Assembly of this Province, which made one Convict's Oath good against another, he ask'd Pardon of the Court for giving them so much Trouble, and pleaded Guilty.

September 25. Last Monday came on the Trial of George Wilson, who is one of the Persons that murdered Capt. Smith, and two others, in a Schooner last Winter, near St. Mary's, and afterwards with his Accomplice by the Names of Newton and Jones, got into New-England, from whence they were brought back to this Province, and put into St. Mary's County Goal, and sometime after broke that Goal, but was retaken. He was tried for breaking Prison, found Guilty, and received Sentence of Death. His Accomplice, the greatest Rogue of the two, if there is any Difference, is not yet retaken, and is said to be gone back to join Perkins and his Gang.

A Woman was tried for Felony, found Guilty, and received Sentence of Death. She pleaded her Belly, on which a Jury of Matrons were summoned, who found her Quick with Child.

BOSTON, September 19.

Extract of a Letter from St. Eustatia, to his Friend in Marblehead, dated July 20. 1751.

'In our Passage from the Main to St. Eustatia, on the 26th of June, in the Latitude of 15. and Longitude 61. about 11 a Clock at Night, was struck by a Sword Fish on our Starboard Bow, which run his Sword through our outside Plank, and a Timber of 10 Inches thick, and Sealing, and into the Hold 10 Inches, and broke his Horn off, and left it in the Hold 10 Inches, which caused our Vessel to have 4 Feet and 2 Inches of Water in the Hold, but by our 2 Pumps cleared her. We reckon that the Horn went through 14 Inches and Half solid Oak.'

The PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtick.

From the New-York Gazette, No. 448.

Mr. PARKER,

If you think the following Lines worthy a Place in your Paper, you are welcome to them, from your humble Servant,

BENEVOLENCE.

HAVING conſidered the annual Increaſe of the Poor of this City, and that our Alms-Houſe (tho' greatly enlarged) will, in all Probability, in a few Years more, be too little to hold them, have been thinking of a Scheme, which, if put in Practice, might prevent that Inconveniency; and perhaps preſerve many decay'd Families in Credit and Reputation, which otherwiſe may, in a little Time, be obliged to croud into it.

I ſuppoſe it will not be denied, that there are many Families in this Town who formerly lived well, were in great Buſineſs, and made a conſiderable Figure, yet at preſent are, and for a long Time have been on the Decline; adverſe Fortune having reduced their large Stores, and extenſive Trade into ſmall Shops: And as the antient Roman State did not fall from their Grandeur at once, or on a ſudden, but by ſlow Degrees, ſo ſome of thoſe People have, for a conſiderable Time, ſtruggled hard to maintain their Independency, and by their little diminutive Buſineſs, endeavoured, at leaſt, to get their Children bread; which yet, by their beſt Induſtry, they are hardly able to do: Now, to bouy up and encourage the dejected Spirits of ſuch, whom Fortune hath thus frowned on, and to raiſe them, if not to their former State, yet, at leaſt, to a comfortable Condition, is the Deſign of the following Lines.

The ſacred Writings ſay, The Poor you have always with you, and whenſoever you will you may do them Good, ſo that if you do not do them Good it is very plain 'tis becauſe you will not, ſince you may do it if you will; and how to do Good ſo as not to put them to the Bluſh, is what I would here recommend. I imagine myſelf now writing to Houſe-keepers, ſuch as ſtand daily in Need of many Neceſſaries in their Families; if ſuch would ſo far conſider the Caſe of thoſe reduced Families, as to become their conſtant Cuſtomers for what is daily wanted, and always give them their Price, ſuppoſing it ſhould be a few Pence more than it could be got for elſewhere, it would be ſuch a handſome Way of beſtowing Charity, as hardly to be taken Notice of, even by the Perſons who receive it, as to put them out of Countenance: For, it may make a Man aſhamed to take a few Pence or Shillings by Way of Charity, who would be very glad to receive the ſame Sum as a juſt Profit on his Goods; neither can thoſe live on the ſame Profits who trade only for ſmall Sums, as ſuch can who deal for many Thouſands a Year; ſo thoſe Profits may be deemed juſt and reaſonable in one, which would be Extortion in the other. It is a general Cuſtom, when People want to buy, to buy where they can get cheapeſt, without any Regard to the Circumſtances of the Seller; however juſtifiable it may be in thoſe who have but little Money to ſpare, and are themſelves on the Borders of Want and Neceſſity, yet, I can hardly think it ſo in thoſe who are poſſeſs'd of large or even moderate Eſtates. 'Tis true, their Policy may appear to be great, but their Gain is very ſmall, eſpecially if they take the Advantage of their Neighbour's Neceſſity, and buy perhaps cheaper than the other can afford to ſell; which ſometimes he is forced to do for a preſent Supply of Money.

This, then, is the firſt Thing recommended,---To deal with the Poor for all ſuch little Matters as they ſell, and allow them their Price.

The next, is to ſell to them cheap; and even at prime Coſt, as often as they may have Occaſion to buy either the Neceſſaries of Life, or a ſmall Supply for their Shops; this may enable them to follow their little Buſineſs to Advantage, encourage their Hearts, and imagine themſelves yet in a State of Independency: For, is it conſiſtent with Chriſtianity to ſee a Neighbour with a dejected Countenance, occaſioned by ſome preſſing Neceſſity, and not ſympathize, and do ſomething for his Relief, if within the Compaſs of our Power, and without any conſiderable Damage to ourſelves? How often have our Streets been covered with Thouſands of Barrels of Flour for Trade, while our near Neighbours can hardly procure enough to make a Dumplin to ſatisfy Hunger? Whether this is as it ought to be, I leave to any indifferent Perſon to judge. And as to engroſſing of Proviſions of all Sorts, even before it comes to Market, Has not a Tendency to encreaſe the Price, and that beyond all reaſonable Bounds? Witneſs the extravagant Price of Butter for above this Twelve Months paſt; and if thoſe who make a yearly Practice of ſuch Things, make any Pretences to Religion, may they not be compared to the Harlot in the Proverbs, who eateth and wipeth her Mouth, and ſaith, ſhe hath done no Evil?

The ſecond Thing here recommended, is, to give the Poor an Opportunity to procure the Neceſſaries of Life at the cheapeſt Rate.

There are many other Ways wherein the Rich may be ſerviceable to the Poor, which, if enumerated, would ſwell to too large a Bulk here to be inſerted; but yet, I ſhall beg Leave to mention ſome of them, and leave all to the ſerious Conſideration of thoſe whom God hath enabled to put them in Practice, if they will; ſuch as now and then lending a Servant to do ſome of their Drudgery Work, ſince there's none who keep Servants but can ſometimes ſpare them an Hour or two, which would be a great Help to the Poor, without any Damage to themſelves; another Thing is, to ſend them unfaſhionable or caſt-off Cloaths, which, doubtleſs, would be very acceptable, eſpecially where there are many Children; and certainly, 'tis better thus to diſpoſe of them, than to let them lay to be eaten up with Moths.

But, thoſe on whom God hath beſtowed large Eſtates, are qualified for more ſubſtantial Service, they may look out for vacant Lots, that lay in Places likely for Trade, and erect on them ſmall Tenements, and lett them out to ſuch Families at eaſy Rates, until ſuch Time as they are a little recovered, and in a Condition to help themſelves; and then find out others to ſucceed them, who may beſt deſerve the ſame Favours. Thus a rich Man may prove a great Bleſſing to his Country; and as Land is increaſing in Value, it may, perhaps, be the beſt Way of laying out his Money: And, doubtleſs, it would be no ſmall Satisfaction and Comfort to him when he drawn near his latter End, to be able to ſay with Job, That the Bleſſing of him that was ready to periſh came upon me, and I cauſed the Widow's Heart to ſing for Joy; but ſuch rich Men who can look with Indifference on the preſſing Neceſſities of their Neighbours, can hardly propoſe to themſelves any juſt Title to ſuch comfortable

Reflections, eſpecially if they conſider how vaſtly ſhort they come of that Spirit of Love and Sympathy found among the firſt Chriſtians, who ſold even their Poſſeſſions, and diſtributed to all as they had need.

Here I would enlarge, and ſpeak of the bleſſed Sentence pronounced to all thoſe who feed the Hungry, cloath the Naked, &c. but that being more properly the Buſineſs of the Prieſt; and having already run this Subject to a greater Length than I at firſt intended, ſhall deſiſt.

If you would hear God's kind forgiving Voice,
In Seaſon learn to weep and to rejoice.
To Chriſtianity make no Pretence,
Unleſs you have a Sympathizing Senſe.

From the RAMBLER.

AMONG other Queſtions which have been long diſcuſſed in the World, without any Approach to Deciſion, may be numbered the Precedency or ſuperior Excellence of one Virtue to another; which has furniſhed a Subject of Debate to thoſe whoſe Leiſure ſent them out into the intellectual World in Search of Employment, and who have perhaps been ſometimes with-held from attending to the Practice of their Favourite Duty, by their Zeal for its Advancement, and Diligence in its Celebration.

The Intricacy of this Queſtion may be alledged as a Proof of that Tenderneſs for Mankind which Providence has, I think, univerſally diſplayed, by making Attainments eaſy in Proportion as they are neceſſary. That all the Duties of Morality ought to be practiſed, is without Difficulty diſcoverable; becauſe Ignorance or Uncertainty would immediately involve the World in Confuſion and Diſtreſs: But which Duty ought to be moſt eſteemed or praiſed, we may debate, without much Inconvenience, ſo all be diligently performed as there is Opportunity or Need: For upon Practice, not upon Opinion, depends the Happineſs of Mankind; and Controverſies merely ſpeculative are of ſmall Importance in themſelves, however they may have ſometimes heated a Diſputant, or provoked a Faction.

Of the divine Author of our Religion it is impoſſible to peruſe the evangelical Hiſtories, without obſerving how little he favoured the Vanity of Inquiſitiveneſs; how much more rarely he condeſcended to ſatisfy Curioſity, than to relieve Diſtreſs; and how much he deſired, that his Followers ſhould rather excel in Goodneſs than in Knowledge. His Precepts tend immediately to the Rectification of the moral Principles, and Direction of daily Conduct; without Oſtentation, without Art; at once irrefragable and plain, ſuch as well-meaning Simplicity muſt always underſtand, and of which we cannot miſtake the Meaning, but when we are afraid to find it.

The Meaſure of Juſtice preſcribed to us, in our Tranſactions with others, is remarkably clear and comprehenſive: Whatſoever ye would that Men ſhould do unto you, even ſo do unto them. A Law by which every Claim of Right may be immediately adjuſted, as far as the private Conſcience requires to be informed; a Law, of which every Man may find the Expoſition in his own Breaſt, and which may always be obſerved by Honeſty of Intention, and Purity of Will.

Over this Law indeed ſome Men have been ſubtle enough to throw Miſts, which have darkened their own Eyes, and found Means of perplexing that univerſal Principle upon which every Queſtion of Juſtice, between one Man and another, is to be decided. They have inquired, whether a Man conſcious to himſelf of unreaſonable Deſires, be bound to gratify them in another? But ſurely it requires not long Deliberation to conclude, that the Deſires which are to be conſidered as the Meaſure of Juſtice, muſt be ſuch as we approve; that we ought to pay no Regard to thoſe Expectations in another, which we condemn in ourſelves, and which, however they may intrude upon our Imagination, we know it our Duty to reſiſt and ſuppreſs.

One of the moſt celebrated Caſes which has been produced as requiring ſome Skill in Caſuiſtry to adapt it to this great Rule, is that of a Criminal aſking Mercy of his Judge; who cannot but know, that if he was in the State of the Supplicant, he ſhould deſire that Pardon which he now denies. The Difficulty of this Suppoſition will vaniſh, if we remember that the Parties are in Reality, on one Side the Criminal, and on the other the Community, of which the Magiſtrate is only the Miniſter, and by which he is entruſted with the publick Safety. The Magiſtrate therefore, in pardoning a a Man unworthy of Pardon, betrays the Truſt with which he is inveſted, gives away what is not his own, and, without Queſtion, does to others what he would not that others ſhould do to him. Even the Community, whoſe Right is ſtill greater to arbitrary Grants of Mercy, is yet bound by thoſe Laws which regard the great Republick of Mankind; and cannot juſtify ſuch Forbearances as may promote Wickedneſs, and leſſen the general Confidence and Security in which all have an equal Intereſt, and which all are therefore bound to maintain. For this Reaſon no State has a Right to erect a general Sanctuary for Fugitives, or give Protection to ſuch as have forfeited their Lives by Crimes againſt the Laws of common Morality, equally acknowledged by all Nations; becauſe none can, without Intraction of the univerſal League of ſocial Beings, incite, by Proſpects of Impunity and Safety, thoſe Practices in another Dominion, which they would themſelves puniſh in their own.

One Occaſion of Uncertainty and Heſitation in thoſe by whom this great Rule has been commented, and expanded, is the Confuſion of what the Caſuiſts are careful to diſtinguiſh, Debts of Juſtice, and Debts of Charity. The immediate and primary Intention of this Precept, is, to eſtabliſh a Rule of Juſtice for the Tribunal of Conſcience; and I know not whether Imagination, or Sophiſtry, can ſtart a ſingle Difficulty to retard its Application, when it is thus expreſſed and explained, Let every Man acknowledge the Claim of Right which he ſhould think juſt in the ſame Caſe.

The Diſcharge of the Debts of Charity, or Duties which we owe to others not merely as required by Juſtice, but as dictated by Benevolence, admits in its own Nature greater Complication of Circumſtances, and greater Latitude of Choice. Juſtice is indiſpenſably and univerſally neceſſary; and what is neceſſary, muſt always be limited, uniform and diſtinct. But Beneficence, though in general equally required by our Religion, and equally needful to the Conciliation of the divine Favour, is yet, for the moſt Part, with Regard to its ſingle Acts, elective and voluntary. We may certainly, without Injury to our Fellow-beings, allow in the Diſtribution of Kindneſs ſomething to our Affections, and change the Meaſure of our Liberality according to our Opinions and Proſpects, our Hopes and Fears. This Rule therefore is not equally determinate and abſolute with Reſpect to Offices of Kindneſs and Acts of Liberality; becauſe Liberality and Kindneſs, abſolutely determined, would loſe their Nature; for how could we be called tender, or charitable, for giving that which we are poſitively forbidden to with-hold?

Yet even in adjuſting the Extent of our Beneficence, no other Meaſure can be taken than this Precept affords us; For we can only know what others ſuffer or want, by conſidering how we ſhould be affected in the ſame State; nor can we proportion our Aſſiſtance by any other Rule, than that of doing what we ſhould then expect from others. It indeed generally happens, that the Giver and Receiver differ in their Opinions of Generoſity; and the ſame Partiality inclines one to large Expectations, and the other to ſparing Diſtributions. Perhaps the Infirmity of human Nature will ſcarcely ſuffer a Man groaning under the Preſſure of Diſtreſs, to judge rightly of the Kindneſs of his Friends, or to think they have done enough till his Deliverance is completed. It is therefore apparent, that not what we ſhould hope, but what we could demand from others, we are obliged to perform; ſince, though we can eaſily know how much we might claim, it is impoſſible to determine what we ſhould hope.

But in all Inquiries concerning the Practice of voluntary and occaſional Virtues, it is ſafeſt for Minds not oppreſſed with ſuperſtitious Fears, to determine againſt their own Inclinations, and ſecure themſelves from Deficiency, by doing more than they believe ſtrictly neceſſary. For of this every Man may be certain, that if he were to exchange Conditions with his Dependent, he ſhould expect more than, with the utmoſt Exertion of his Ardour, he now will prevail upon himſelf to perform; and when our Reaſon has no ſettled Rule, and our Paſſions are ſtriving to miſlead us, it is ſurely the Part of a wiſe Man to err on the Side of Safety.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman, dated Stockbridge, Auguſt 31. 1751.

GOD, in his Providence, ſeems now to be opening the Door for the introducing the Light of the Goſpel among the Nations (i. e. the ſix Mohawk Nations) wider than ever before. And if we, the Engliſh, don't fail of doing our Part, there is a Proſpect of great Things being done. And it looks as if this preſent ſeaſon were Now or Never. 'Tis evident the French are now exerting themſelves in an extraordinary Manner, to draw all theſe Nations over to them, and engage them in their Intereſt. The King of France has lately made extraordinary Proviſions for them, that very large and liberal Preſents may be made them in Canada. And they are indefatigable in the Endeavours they uſe, in the Labours of their Emiſſaries, and all Ways they can deviſe. They are building Forts in all the Parts of America to the Weſt of us, in the Carrying Places between the Lakes and Rivers, and in all the moſt important Places, where they may have greateſt Advantage to bring the Indians into Dependence, and to draw their Trade. Colonel Johnſon, and Major Lydius (who probably are beſt acquainted with the State of theſe Indians, of all the Subjects of the Britiſh Crown) ſaid in the Time of the Treaty of Albany, That "It was a gone Caſe, and that it was a Thing beyond all Doubt or Diſpute, that unleſs ſomething extraordinary was ſpeedily done, and what was never like to be done, theſe Nations were loſt to the Britiſh Intereſt."

By ſome Accounts abundantly confirm'd, about one Half of the Onoontauguas have actually left their old Habitations, and are gone to live in Canada; the French having provided Lands for them: And many others of the far Nations are reſorting to ſettle there. An eminent Mohawk told me, that the Quinquahs, the Onoontauguas, and the Chonuntoowaunoes or Seneca's, are generally in the French Intereſt. He ſays, They indeed come to Albany and treat with the Engliſh as Friends; but then go directly to the Governor of Canada, and tell him all that has paſſed: They ſpeak (ſays he) ſmooth Words, pleaſant Words to the Engliſh; but their Hearts are with the French. He ſaid concerning the Seneca's, who are vaſtly the biggeſt of the Six Nations, that the Governor of Canada was always there, meaning by his Emiſſaries. Four Indians have lately been here from among the Caugnawauguas in Canada, who were related either in Blood or Marriage to ſome of the Engliſh. Two of theſe eſpecially appear'd to be uncommonly intelligent. They told me that the Indians that uſed formerly to be on our Side, are continually in great Multitudes flocking to Canada to dwell there. They ſaid that all the Nations about the Lakes that uſed to be our Friends, had lately left us, and had enter'd into Alliance with the French.

Thus abundant and indefatigable are that Nation, who underſtand their own Intereſt ſo well, in their Endeavours to gain all the Indian Nations in North-America, and to eſtabliſh them in their Intereſt, and to alienate them from the Engliſh. I was credibly inform'd, while at Albany, that the Indians gave that as one Reaſon why they left the Engliſh, and join'd themſelves to the French, That they could not live with the Engliſh, they gave them ſo much Rum, which they found by Experience waſted them exceedingly.

Now it is remarkable, that in this Situation of Things, the only remaining Means that Divine Providence has left in our Power to regain and ſecure the Indians in the Engliſh Intereſt, is this very Thing, viz. To our utmoſt to proſecute the Deſign of thoroughly inſtructing them in the true Proteſtant Religion, and educating their Children in uſeful Knowledge. Colonel Johnſon owns this; and ſays, he knows it will be for the Britiſh Intereſt, for them to proſecute what they have begun at Stockbridge. And now the Moſt High ſeems to be opening the Door in an unuſual Manner; this Opportunity may be eaſily loſt through our Negligence: For ſome of the Mohawks themſelves are watching for an Opportunity to poſſeſs the Minds of thoſe Indians that are inclin'd to Religion, with an Opinion of the Treachery of the Engliſh, and to inſult thoſe that ſeem now diſpoſed to truſt us, on our diſappointing them. A principal Mohawk himſelf, in his Prudence and Zeal, is afraid of the Conſequence of any Diſappointment from the Engliſh, and ſeems deeply concern'd about it."
